Shannon Collins, LifeStyle Magazine, April 2007

"Blending a lyrical, New York School gesturalism with intense areas of pure hue, (Fredendall's) paintings are a celebration of the versatility of color and reveal the depth of human experience."

Town Topics, Women & Cookbooks Show at Peggy Lewis Gallery, March 2007

Bucks County Herald, Kirby Fredendall Serves Cookbooks in Art Exhibition, March 2007

F.R.Rivera, US 1 Art Review, Morpeth Gallery, September 2002

"The surfaces of Fredendall's paintings are mysteriously expectant like the surface of some primordial soup that is stirring with microorganisms."

Open Studio Press, New American Paintings, Juried Artists Spring 2000

Art Matters, Looking Ahead (Featured Artist), Philadelphia's Regional Magazine of the Arts, Spring/Summer 1998 "Bucks County painter Kirby Fredendall is representative of a new generation of artists in the area."

Richard Huntington, Delaware Center for the Contemporary Arts Newsletter, The Persistence of Modernism and Other Tales From Delaware and Surrounds, Summer, 1997 "In painting abstract paintings, Fredendall demonstrates an imposing repertoire of paint handling techniques...(the paintings) are highly plotted affairs that appear to emerge slowly in successive layers - the layer beneath never quite obscuring what comes next. The lyricism is so pervasive that at times one can imagine the pigment itself soaked in some sweet nectar."

Art Matters, Anna Francis, Exhibit Curator Calls for a Return to Beauty, Dec/Jan 1995
