

ABOUT THE ARTIST.

BRYCE Watanasoponwong (b. 1974) is a Thai-Australian photographer who captures chance encounters in urban landscapes, and has a highly experimental process involving both digital and analogue techniques, which pushes elements of his work into intriguing visual abstraction arts that convey emotion, make a personal impact and advocate mental health and well-being.

Incorporating a range of different mediums into his work has helped him to gain a new and expanded perspective on his photography and the world in general. His passion for exploring diverse cultures around the world brings a unique frame of reference to his work. The process of self-discovery and the pursuit of the truth is imperative to his identity as an artist.
