

The Elizabeth R. Raphael Founder's Prize Winner

Interstitial

Interstitial refers to a place between moments. In this work I want to show the starts and stops by creating a circular neckpiece reflecting a cycle. Counterclockwise the bottom right starts with an arrow leading the viewer to the top where there is a tipping point, and then coming around to the bottom a crescendo of interconnected, volumetric Möbius strips that cycle back to the origin. The Möbius strips are non-orientable and therefore have one side, illustrating an additional layer to the cyclical aspect of the piece.

SOURCE: Concept sketch for Interstitial

Interstitial, 2011

Metal

12" × 15" × 1/4"

Photo: Toky Photography