

Sasha Suvorova aka Baroque Anarchist

Sasha Suvorova is a London-based visual artist working with post-human embodiment. Born during the Chernobyl disaster, she has long been preoccupied with the pursuit of fertility and immortality through science and art, as well as the body's simultaneous fragility and resilience.

Her background in academic painting, alongside fourteen years at the Moscow Academic Theatre as a costume and set designer, continues to shape her approach. Her recent work merges an interest in emerging biotechnologies with ancestral memory, addressing infertility and the stigmas surrounding it.
